For Coaches and Players

This book is a basketball drills collection made from coach Antonio d'Albero, a long experienced coach with clubs and national teams around the world. You will also find many tips for your practice and all the ideas that the coach gathered during his international journey with different basketball cultures. All the drills and systems are explained in detail with diagrams and descriptions. This manual also includes practice plans ready for your teams and it is a great source of basketball quotes.

Coach Antonio d'Albero comes out from the Italian coaching school but he has been influenced very soon from the American and the European basketball philosophy.

Preface by Coach Dan Hughes (WNBA coach, WNBA champion with the Seattle Storm): "I've found a great wonderful job of using different methods of learning to make my players."

Dwain Frazier (considered to be the all-time leading scorer in the history of basketball, inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame): "Practice, practice and practice... it got me where my first three practices a time choice, because it's this extra step that will help your career as a player."

Tales by Josh Powell (NBA Champion with the Los Angeles Lakers): "...Gotta have good practice and strengthening your skills... My first with Kobe was amazing..."

Foreword by Coach Del Harris (NBA Coach, NBA Coach of the year in 1995 with the Los Angeles Lakers): "A coach's practice organization is the first step to having a team that is prepared to play on any night of the week."

Florencia Palacios (professional player and Basketball GWR): "Those drills made my career easier and longer. The abundance variety of and working players in this collection helped me to grow my game. To play in different positions on the court and to be adaptable in many leagues. I am so grateful."

Joe Dianda (ORC Director): "His book is a great manual for coaches and players to improve their game to get to the top level!"
